V. Report from the Executive Committee

- As many of you know, it’s shaping up to be a lean fiscal year in SC. If there is a Bond Bill, it will probably only be for Renovation, not new construction. We were able to acquire the Old Post Office Building in downtown Florence which we have submitted renovation requests for 8 million dollars. This will house the speech therapy program and likely other therapies as they might come online at FMU. Dr. Carter informed us at the AAUP Forum that Senator McMaster has said that he would veto any Bond bill, but we are hopeful that there will be veto-breaking numbers.
- SACS-COC documents will be sent to SACS-COC in early fall. A consultant has looked at our first draft documents and has recommended revisions. Our site visit will be in March, 2018
- Ellucian training continues, with Finance to be the first online later this summer. Completion by pre-registration in spring, 2018.
- Honorary Degree recipients at Graduation will be Mr. Buddy Brand, who has served on the Foundation Board for many years, and Beckie Flannagan who will deliver the commencement address.

Ongoing work by the Committee consists of Data collection on our Various Programs' Accreditation Status to include: The name of the out-side accreditation body, Where each program stands in their accreditation cycle, and the Next date of assessment. This data will be communicated to the Chair of the Committee.

12. Mediation (Chair, Marsha Taylor)

There was nothing to report for 2016-2017.

VI. Report from the Academic Affairs Committee

1. Proposal from the Office of the Provost

A. The Provost announced that the German program will be deleted. Students currently in the program will be allowed to finish their coursework before the program is dropped.

2. Proposal for the Department of English, Modern Languages, and Philosophy

A. ADD the following French course on p. 85 of the current catalog:

203 French for the Arts and Sciences (3) (Prerequisite: Completion of 102 with a grade of C or higher or equivalent) Development of practical reading and written communication skills in French for use in a variety of specialized fields within the arts and sciences. A focus on comprehending, summarizing and discussing texts in the humanities and technical disciplines.

Rationale for A: Francis Marion does not currently offer a course specifically geared to students who may use French as part of a larger research agenda in the arts and sciences. This course extends the offerings of the French program to address the needs of students who may find it useful to read French texts in the humanities and technical disciplines. This course will give students practice summarizing, discussing, and presenting information gleaned from French-language texts within a variety of specialized fields in the arts and sciences.

B. ADD the following French course on p. 85 of the current catalog:

210 French for the Professions (3) (Prerequisite: Completion of 201 with a grade of C or higher or equivalent). Development of practical oral and written communication skills in French to complete a range of communicative tasks in a business or professional setting. Situational vocabulary and study of topics pertaining to professional life with attention to cultural practices and norms.

Rationale for B: Francis Marion does not currently offer a course specifically geared to students who may use French as a means of communication in their future workplace. This course extends the offerings of the French program to address the needs of students who may use French professionally. The course will give students practice with specific vocabulary useful in the workplace and help students develop real-life skills such as applying for a job, creating marketing ads, and completing business transactions and professional presentations in a second language.

C. ADD the following Spanish course on p. 86 of the current catalog:

210 Spanish for Business (3) (Prerequisite: Completion of 201 with a grade of C or higher or equivalent). Development of practical oral and written communication skills in Spanish to complete a range of communicative tasks in a business or professional setting. Situational vocabulary and study of topics pertaining to professional life with attention to cultural practices and norms.

Rationale for C: As our students prepare to enter the job market, having a background in another language will give them an edge that many other job candidates will not have. This course will prepare them for entering the job market with an advantage that many other people will not have by giving them practice with vocabulary, grammar, and other preparation such as mock interviews and marketing ads in a second language. This will help develop skills for our students that they otherwise would not have without this course.

D. MODIFY the following French course on p. 85 of the current catalog under Modern Languages, French Track:

FROM:

300 Introduction to Reading Texts in French (3) (Prerequisite: 202 or equivalent on the placement test) A transitional course designed to provide a comprehensive introduction to critically reading and approaching French and Francophone texts. Guided readings and discussions of a variety of texts written in French, including literary excerpts and a range of articles and essays from print and digital media.

TO:

300 Introduction to Reading Literature in French (3) (Prerequisite: 202 or equivalent on the placement test) A transitional course designed to provide a comprehensive introduction to critically reading and approaching French and Francophone literature. Guided readings and discussions of a variety of texts in French, including literary excerpts and a range of essays from digital media.

Rationale for D: The change in the title and description are made to emphasize the fact that the readings in this course will consist of literary works or excerpts of literary works, as opposed to the readings in the proposed new French for Arts and Sciences course, which will include a broader range of non-literary readings in the humanities and technical disciplines (news articles, historical documents, research studies, etc.).

VII. Report from the Graduate Council

1. Office of the Provost

A. Change, on page 9, under MISSION STATEMENT 2nd paragraph,

From:

.... The University also offers professional degrees at the baccalaureate, master's and specialist levels.

To:

.... The University also offers professional degrees at the baccalaureate, master's and specialist levels, and a professional doctorate.

Rationale: This change has been approved by the FMU Board of Trustees and was slightly modified by CHE to add "to offer professional degrees at the baccalaureate, master's and specialist levels, and a professional doctorate, contingent upon approval by the General Assembly, in accordance with 59-103-45(6)." This is currently being discussed by the state legislature and has been passed by the House of Representative and is now being considered by the Senate.
