

Undergraduate Student Exit Survey Results

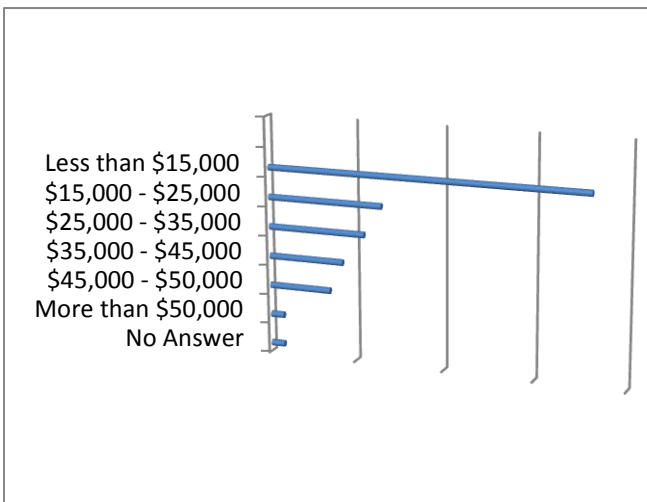

POINTS OF INTEREST:

As graduation approached, graduating seniors were required to complete a survey that asked questions about their employment/career status, acceptance to graduate studies, and income level. These numbers are presented visually in this report.

This chart shows that of the graduating seniors who participated in the survey, about 45% of them reported being unemployed at the time of graduation.

Spring 2016 Undergraduates Income Brackets

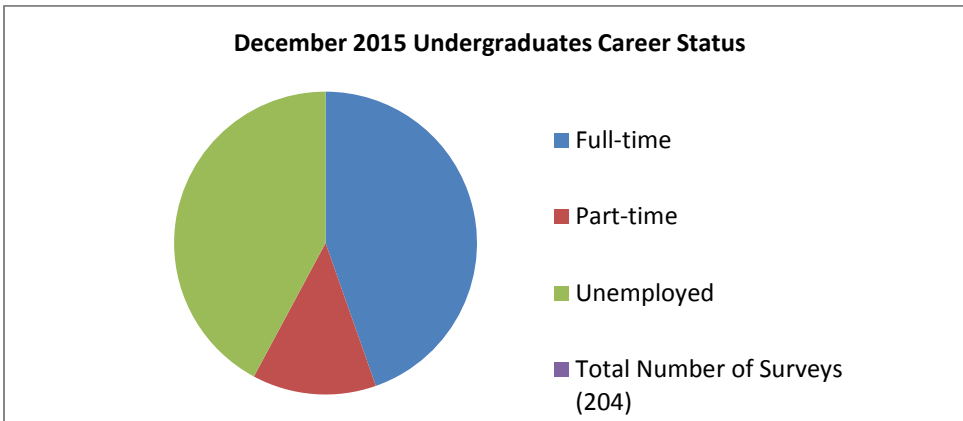

This chart shows the income level of the employed Spring 2016 undergraduates who participated in the survey.

The majority (25%) of the undergraduate student surveys revealed an income less than $15,000.

There are 34 Spring 2016 undergraduate students (12%) enrolled in a graduate program.

Employment Status of the Fall 2015 Undergraduates

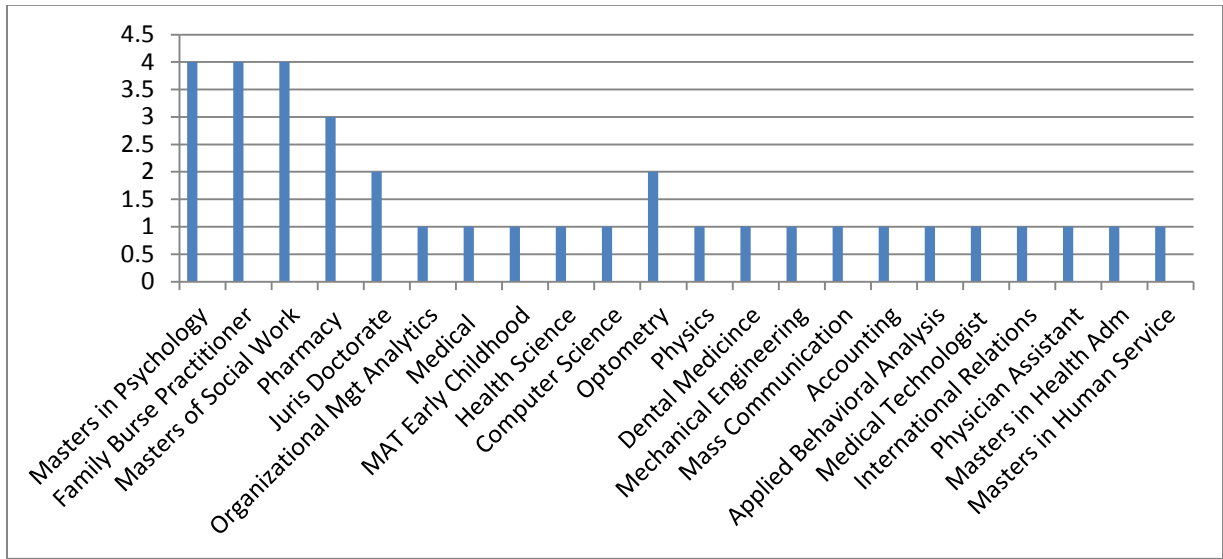

This chart shows that 42% of the undergraduate students surveyed reported being unemployed, 13% reported being part-time, and 45% reported being full-time at the time of graduation.

Fall 2015 Ungraduates Income Brackets

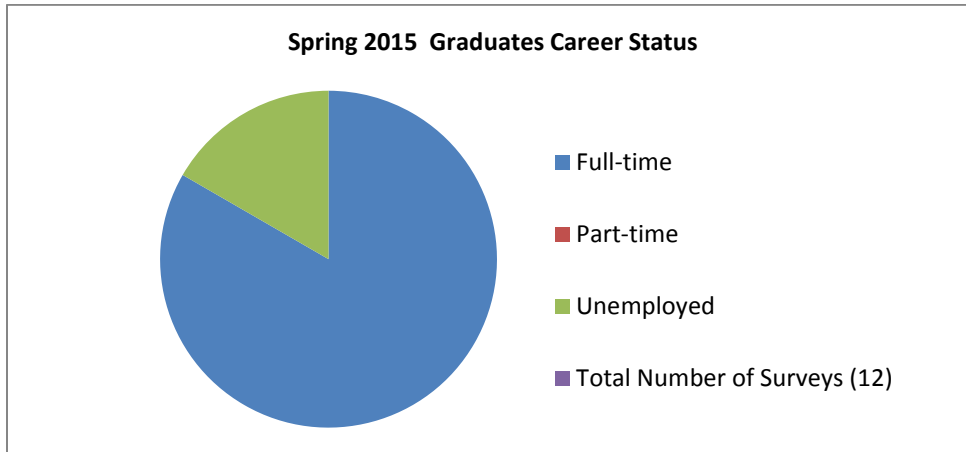

This chart shows the income level of the fall 2015 graduating seniors who participated in the survey. Approximately 175 undergraduate students were surveyed. The surveys revealed that 31% of the graduating seniors who are employed receive an income of less than $15,000.

Spring 2016 Undergraduates Enrolled in Graduate Program

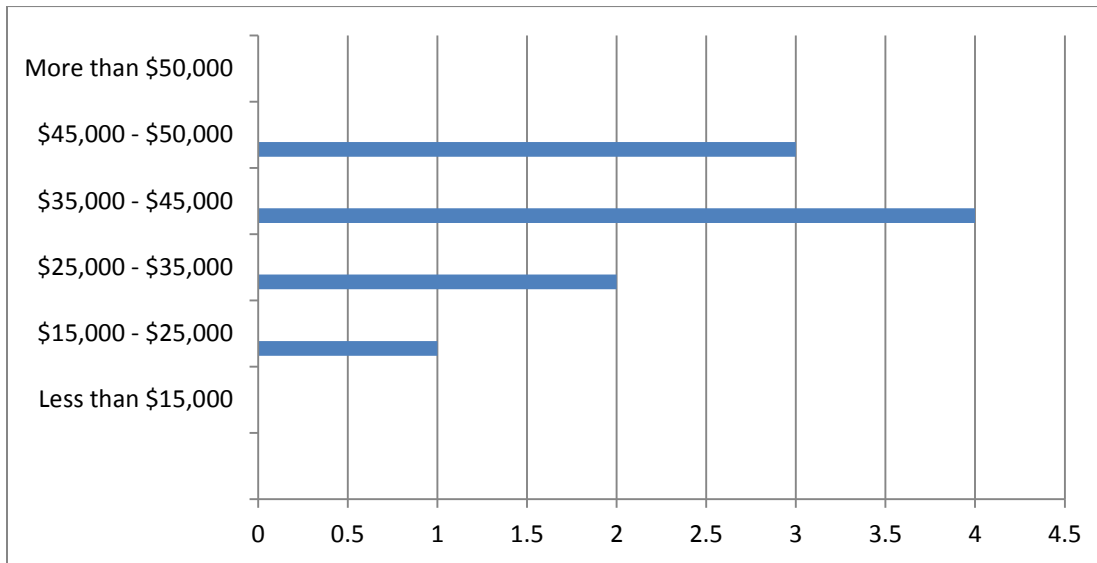

This chart shows how many spring 2016 undergraduate students are enrolled in a graduate program and in which graduate programs they are enrolled.

Spring 2016 Graduate Student Exit Survey Results

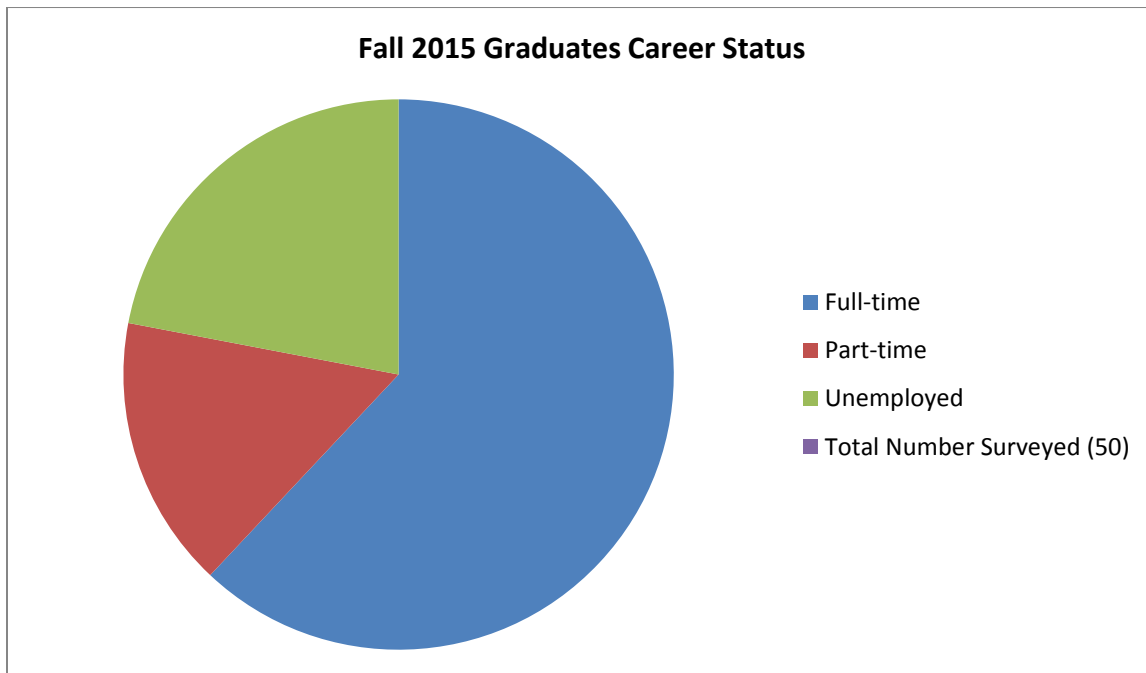

This chart shows the employment status of the spring 2016 graduates. About 83% of the graduate students surveyed reported being employed full-time, and 17% reported being unemployed at the time of graduation. There were no graduate students employed part-time.

Spring 2016 Graduate Student Income brackets

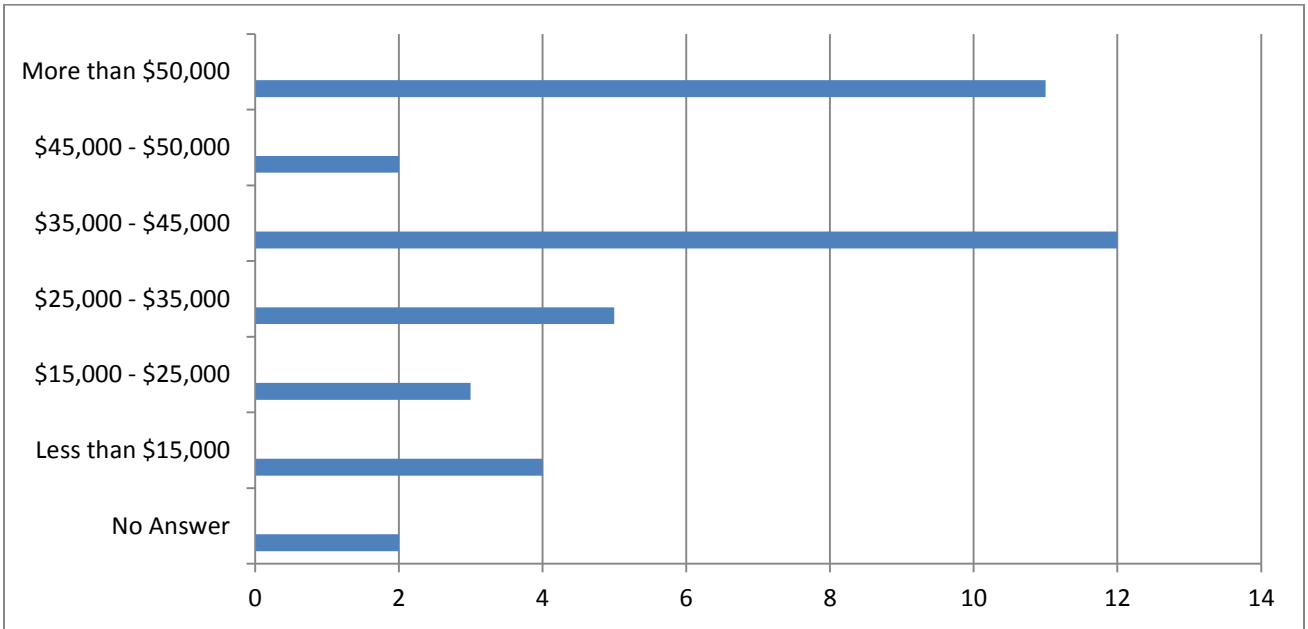

This chart shows the income level of the spring 2016 graduates. About 4% more graduate students surveyed revealed an income between $35,000 - $45,000.

Employment Status of the Fall 2015 Graduates

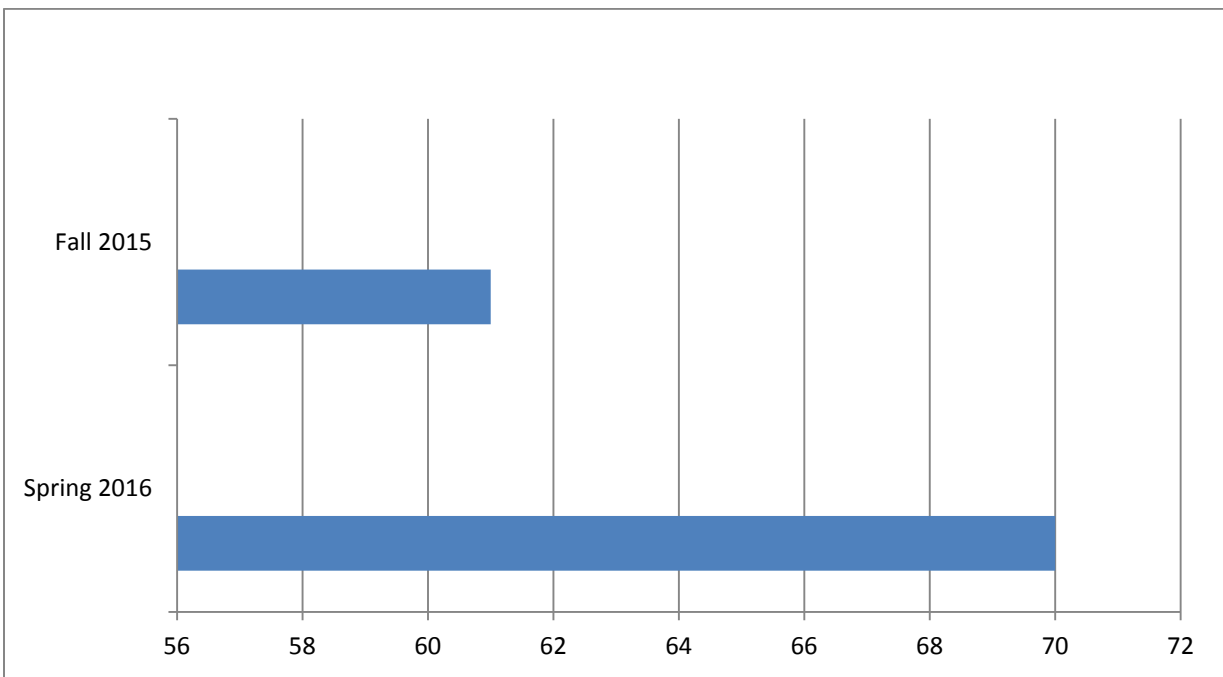

This chart shows that 62% of the fall 2015 graduates surveyed reported being full-time, 16% reported being part-time, and 22% reported being unemployed at the time of graduation.

Fall 2015 Graduate Student Income Brackets

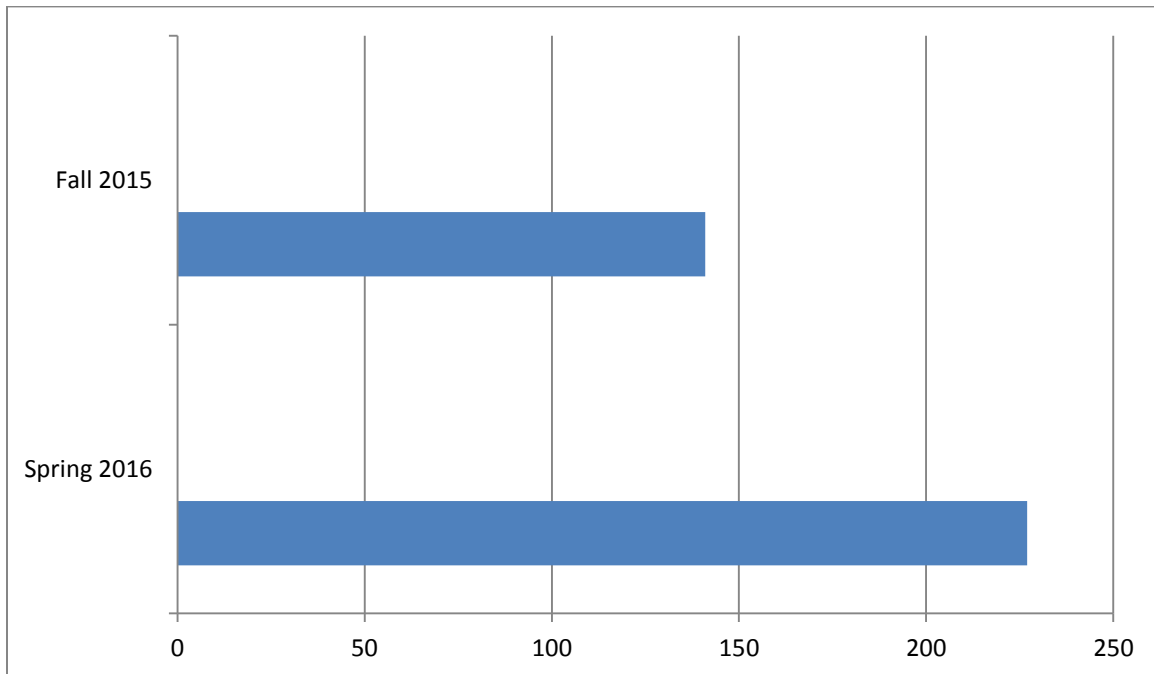

This chart shows the income level of the fall 2015 graduates. A higher number of graduate students revealed making a salary between $35,000 - $45,000.

Number of Employer Participation in Career Fairs

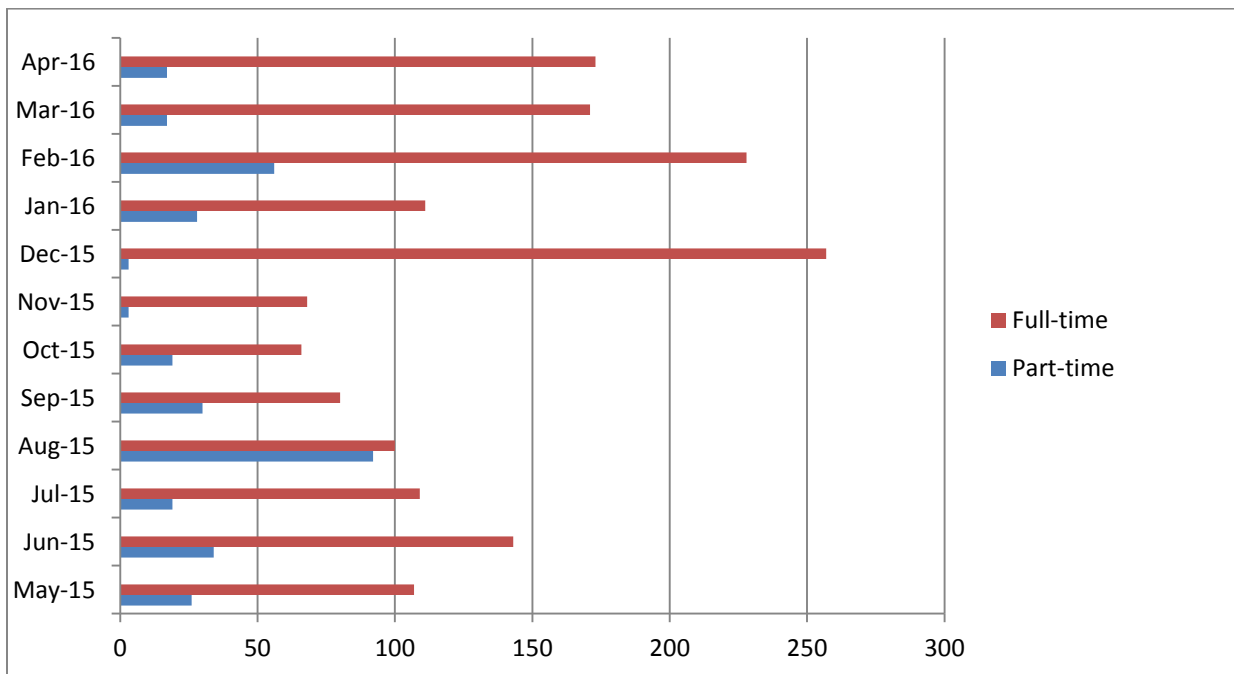

This chart shows the number of employers that attended the career fairs. The number increased by nine for the Spring 2016 Career Fair.

Number of Student Participation in Career Fairs

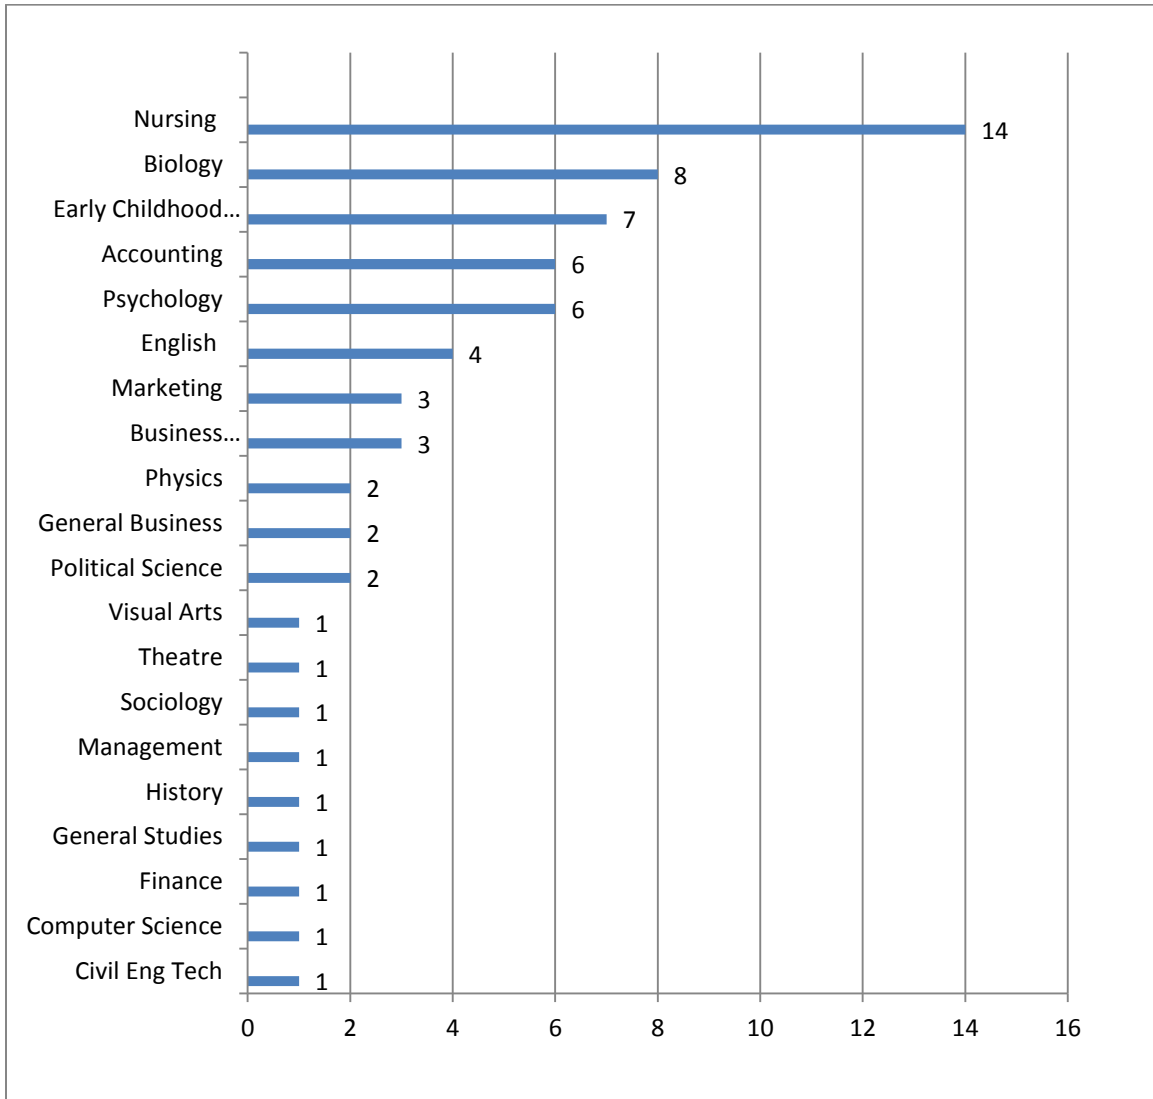

This chart shows the number of students who attended the career fair. The Spring 2016 Career Fair had 86 more students in attendance.

Full-time and Part-time Jobs Posted May 2015 - April 2016

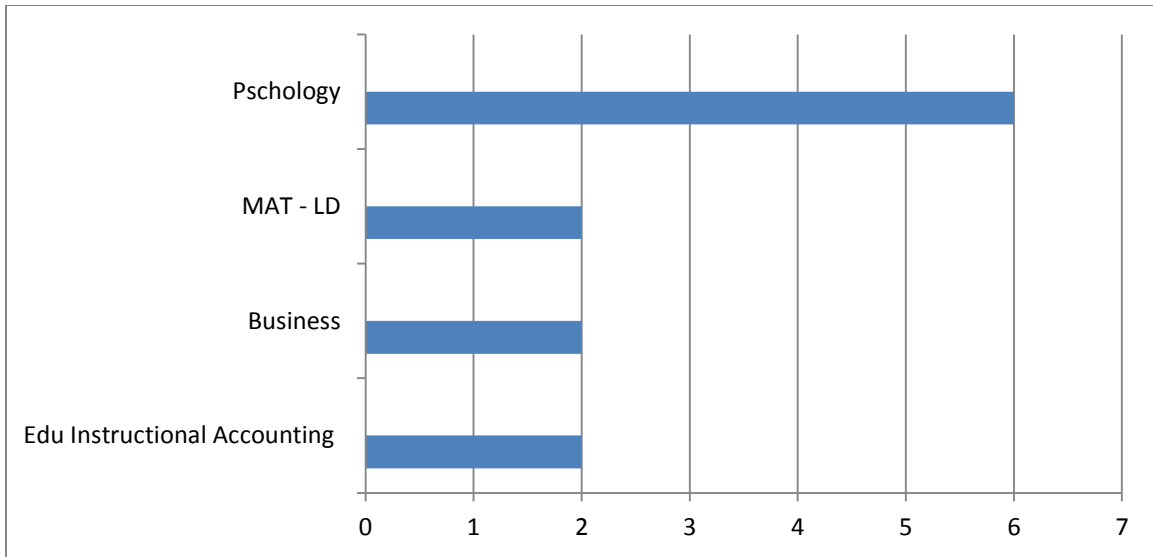

This chart shows the number of part-time and full-time jobs posted in the Office of Career Development May 2015 – April 2016. More part-time jobs were posted in August 2015 and more full-time jobs were posted in December 2015.

This Graph Shows How Many of Each Major (May 2016 Undergraduates) Had Full-time Employment

This Graph Shows How Many of Each Major (May 2016) Were in Graduate School

This Chart Shows How Many Graduates in Each Major Had Employment Relevant to Their Major

