I just wanted you to know that we're following up on these students. We have an appointment scheduled for [REDACTED] later this week. We're still working on getting a response from [REDACTED]

Jennifer,

I realize that CASA is just getting underway, and I hope I'm not dumping too much more work on you, but you asked us to make you aware of any students about whom we had concerns. I have two students I feel the need to bring to your attention. Both are in my [REDACTED] class.

One is [REDACTED] student no. [REDACTED]. She took this same class with me last semester and failed it. So far, we have had a quiz and an exam, and she has not passed either.

The other is [REDACTED] student no. [REDACTED]. His grades on both of these early assignments were exceptionally low.

Whenever I see low grades, particularly on exams, I ask the students to come see me. Hopefully these two will. That said, I would ask if you might talk with them as well, particularly [REDACTED]. Thanks!
