

Francis Marion University: Composition Program

STUDENT WRITING RELEASE FORM

Congratulations! Your writing piece (identified below) has been nominated for consideration of the McCrimmon Award and/or Final Draft, a collection of student writing, and may be used as a student sample or student spotlight in other capacities at Francis Marion University.

Title of Writing: _____

The selected pieces of writing may be published or displayed in either hard or electronic copies and may serve as departmental or promotional material. Moreover, the selected pieces are meant to promote student writing, to highlight work students have been doing, and to pay tribute to the various student voices in the department and in affiliation with our FMU English classes.

Please return a signed copy of this form to your instructor, and email an electronic version of your nominated writing to our composition program coordinators (comp@fmarion.edu).

Permission Statement:

I give permission for the indicated composition piece to be considered for the McCrimmon Award for outstanding student writing and for Final Draft, the collection of FMU student writing published annually. I understand that this publication will be distributed among students and faculty on campus and that if and only if my work is selected for an award, I will be credited as the author and will receive a monetary prize.

I agree that the indicated nominated piece of writing can be used by Francis Marion University's English Department in promotional material to honor student writing and/or in conjunction with a campus event. I understand this piece may be re-printed and used in future events and may be in electronic or printed form, including posters, for public display or distribution. I recognize and agree to have my name publicly displayed with this piece of writing when appropriate; however, if ever used as an unpublished student sample for instructional use or faculty workshops, I understand my name and identifiers will be removed. I also understand that there is no monetary compensation for this nominated piece of writing when used in the aforementioned capacities; rather, I grant permission for the use of this piece for the sole reward of sharing FMU student writing.

Furthermore, by signing this, I attest that this piece of writing is written by me and that I have sole authority to grant this permission.
